

Dr Anupama Ray is a Senior Research Scientist at IBM Research. She is also an Adjunct Professor at Indian Institute of Technology Jodhpur. Prior to joining IBM Research, she completed her doctoral studies from Indian Institute of Technology Delhi. Her current research focuses on developing Quantum Machine Learning algorithms and intersection of AI for Quantum. She has served as principal investigator for several grants in the area of QML for healthcare lifesciences and worked with several hospitals and medical research centers worldwide. She has been the recipient of the IEEE Best Woman Professional (Early Career) 2021, Women of Color Technology Rising Star 2022, Global Young Scientist 2018 and several awards at IBM Research.