Mukesh Bansal is a first-generation tech entrepreneur who has significantly influenced the tech ecosystem in India over the past two decades. He is the founder and CEO of Nurix AI, an AI services company that helps enterprises implement AI agents. Additionally, he founded Myntra, a leading fashion e-commerce platform, and co-founded CureFit, India's largest health and fitness platform

As an active investor in the tech startup ecosystem through his venture studio, MerakiLabs that invested in companies such as Groww, which is now the largest online brokerage platform in India and Skyroot that became the first private space company out of India to launch a rocket in space. His achievements have earned him recognition in Fortune magazine's Best 40 Under 40 Entrepreneurs list.

Mukesh is also an accomplished author, having written 3 books:
No Limits, which explores themes of talent, deliberate practice, mindset, habit, willpower, and learning to optimize performance, and Hacking Health, which demystifies health science and examines our relationship with our bodies and Startup Code delivers a masterclass on the art of building successful start-ups.